INSTRUCTIONS

This document is about informed consent. It will tell you about laser hair reduction. It will outline its risks, and other treatment options.

It is important that you read this whole document carefully. Please initial each page. Doing so means you have read the page. Signing the consent agreement means that you agree to the surgery that you have talked about with your plastic surgeon.

GENERAL INFORMATION

In laser hair reduction, a technician uses a laser to emit a beam of light that passes through the skin to the hair follicle. The hair absorbs the light energy and is transformed into heat. The heat disables the hair follicle. The number of treatments you need depends on your skin and hair color. You may need touch up treatments in the future. Patients with darker hair and lighter skin see the best results. Patients with lighter hair or darker skin may need more treatments.

OTHER TREATMENTS

Other treatments include shaving, waxing, depilating, and plucking. Risks and potential complications also come with other treatments.

RISKS OF LASER HAIR REDUCTION

All procedures have some risk. It is important that you know these risks. You must also understand other issues that might come up during or after the procedure. Every procedure has its limits. Choosing to have a procedure means comparing the risks and benefits. Most patients do not face problems, but you should talk about them with your plastic surgeon. Make sure you know all possible risks of laser hair reduction.

SPECIFIC RISKS OF LASER HAIR REDUCTION*Burns:

Laser energy can produce burns that can scar. Organs near the site of hair reduction may be injured or permanently damaged. That could include the eyes. Burns are rare. They can result from the heat caused within the tissues by the laser. You may need more treatment for laser burns.

Infection:

It is rare, but you can get an infection after some laser treatments. In some cases, you can get cold sores or viral infections around the mouth. Tell your surgeon and laser technician if you get cold sores or herpes virus (HSV) outbreaks around the treated area.

Pain:

You may have pain after treatment. How strong the pain is and how long it lasts can vary. It may last after surgery.

Erythema (Skin Redness):

Your skin may turn red near the treated area after injections. It may stay red for a few days after the procedure.

Skin Discoloration/Swelling:

You may see swelling after the treatment. The skin at or near the procedure site can look lighter or darker than the skin around it. It is not common but swelling and skin discoloration can last a long time. In rare cases, it may be permanent.

Lasers and Medication Interaction:

Some medications are “photosensitive.” This means they may react to the laser treatment. Tell your laser technician about all medications you are taking or have used in the week before EACH laser treatment session.

Tanning, Sun Exposure, Artificial Tanning:

Do not tan or use any products that darken your skin for 6 weeks before your treatment. Darker skin will make it harder for the laser to treat the hair follicle. You will not get a good result. You may even get a skin burn. It is best to use a broad-spectrum sunscreen daily.

Avoiding other hair removal methods:

Plucking, waxing, and electrolysis can disturb the hair follicle. Avoid them at least 4 weeks before laser treatment. If not, the treatment may not work.

Poor Results:

You can expect good results. However, there is no guarantee for the results. If you have more realistic ideas about the treatment, the results will look better to you. Some patients do not reach their goals. It is not the fault of the professional skin technician or the treatment. You may not like the results. Unwanted results may NOT improve with more treatment.

DISCLAIMER

Informed consent documents give you information about the procedure you are considering. These documents explain the risks of that procedure. They also discuss other treatment options, including not having surgery. However, informed consent documents can’t cover everything. Your plastic surgeon may give you more or different information. This may be based on the facts of your case.

Informed consent documents are not meant to define or serve as the standard of medical care. Standards of medical care are determined based on the facts involved in an individual case. They may change with advances in science and technology. They can also change with the way doctors practice medicine.

It is important that you read the above information carefully and get all your questions answered before signing the consent agreement on the next page.
